Poooh Busters!

Newsletter

Welcome to the fourth edition of the official Poooh Busters monthly newsletter!

Poooper of the Month

We are proud to present Jessie and Harley as June's Pooopers of the Month! Please visit the Feature section of our website to see these two amazing and beautiful dogs!

Poooh Busters is planning to take all the featured pooopers of the month and create a 2008 calendar. It may be a little early for thoughts of next year but we are always thinking ahead and trying out new ideas to make your experience with us special and memorable. Keep an eye out in the future for more information as we develop this plan. As always we will continue announcing each month's selection so keep an eye on future issues of this newsletter or be sure to regularly visit the Poooh Busters website!

Stay cool for the Dog Days of Summer

It is hot outside. What do humans do? We take off those winter coats and heavy clothing, we stay in the cool air conditioned building, we head to the pool or lake for a swim, and we drink lots of cool water. Seems obvious, right? As responsible pet owners, we know not to leave our pets in cars (even on mildly warm days!) or stuck out in the sun without access to shade. But what about more "in-depth" tips to keep our pets as cool and comfortable as possible for those times we must leave our pets as we go to work or other appointments?

- Add ice to your pet's water dish to keep water cooler longer
- A "bath" without soap. Use a garden hose to wet down your dog.
- Setting up a sprinkler or drip hose works well for some animals. This keeps the water running and cool, allowing for a fresh water source on demand.
- Secure the water dish to avoid an accidental spill. You may also want to consider adding another water bowl or two in your pet's area, just in case.
- If you will be walking with your pet, remember that while paw pads are "tough" they are also sensitive, and can be burned while walking on hot pavement and tar. If possible, walk on grass or dirt, and check your pet's paw pads to make sure there isn't any redness or pain. If your pet must be outside, make sure that shade is available at all times. While home, be sure to check the area your pet is in - as the sun changes, is the shade still readily available?
