Poooh Busters!

Newsletter

Welcome to the July edition of the official Poooh Busters monthly newsletter!

Can I have a big Yee-Haw and a Woof Woof?!

It's Stampede time again; Poooh Busters wishes y'all a happy Stampede Week so git on out there and enjoy the festivities, food and fun!

Pooper of the Month

We are proud to present Apollo and Sarah as July's Poopers of the Month! Please visit the Feature section of our website to see these two very lovable pets!

Did You Know?

As you're well aware, pet waste can cause odours, flies and can damage your landscape. Most recently, a study conducted in the United States by the Environmental Protective Agency (EPA) has shown that pet waste is a significant contributor to bacterial contamination in our ocean water after a storm. Storm water carries litter, pet waste and other pollutants directly into the ocean as it does not receive any treatment prior to discharging into the ocean.

The best way to prevent diseases and the many bacterial infections dogs can acquire from stools is to remove feces at least once a week, keep current on your dog's vaccinations, fecal examinations and de-worming. Also, picking up waste before rain can break up or scatter the feces and allow the worms or germs to spread into the environment. Why not just let the dog waste sit there and degrade? Aside from the fact that if you have small children sharing the yard, dog poop is a health hazard. Left alone it can gather maggots, flies, pass parasites to other animals, which in turn pass them back to your dog, and possibly us humans as well.

Don't Forget!

Remember to call us if you are taking a vacation this summer! If you and your pet are going to be away for an extended period of time, chances are your yard is going to free of pet waste. Please be sure to inform us so that we may skip your service during the weeks that are away. We will resume again right where we left off and you will not have wasted any weekly, paid service.

Contact Us

Well that's it for this month! Enjoy the Calgary Stampede festivities and eat lots of pancakes partner! Poooh Busters are always looking for ways to make our service better, so if you have any comments, feedback or suggestions, always feel free to contact us anytime! See you next week!
